Sarah,

In regard to input on inclusion of the lead content requirement in Annex G and NSF 61.

Because of the widespread use of the NSF 61 standard in our industry it makes sense to have the lead content information in Annex G inside of the 61 standard.

The NSF 61 performance requirements in tandem with the a lead content requirement option positively impacts the public health and strengthens the standard.

The confusion of markings would be my only concern, but I believe this can be worked out between the manufacturer and ANSI certifier as discussed previously.
